

Program Information

College:	Clarice C. and Leland H. Bagwell College of Education
Department:	Department of Inclusive Education
Program:	Special Education, EdS

Program Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this degree from KSU, students will be able to:

- foster a responsive, learner-centered educational environment that promotes collaboration and democratic participation for student learning and may include co-teaching.
- demonstrate pedagogical approaches which incorporate contextual, theoretical/conceptual, and practical influences on the learner and learning.
- advance teaching and learning through the innovative use of technology based on sound educational theory and knowledge of the learner.
- demonstrate in-depth foundational knowledge of content-based research, scholarship, and socio-political influences in the teaching field and use this knowledge to analyze and interpret problems and implement solutions within their profession.
- demonstrate and apply various types of assessment to inform the learner's ability to analyze, monitor, and improve their learning as well as interpret and use data to inform their own pedagogical effectiveness.
- engage in scholarly, applied research to advance knowledge of teaching, the learner, and/or learning.
- reflect on their professional, scholarly practice, and analyze the ways in which they have changed in their thinking, beliefs, or behaviors toward improved learner-centered practices.
- support academic and linguistic needs of the learner, enhance cultural understandings, and increase global awareness of all students.
- demonstrate professional dispositions, fluency of academic language in a variety of contexts, and ethical practice expected of a scholar-practitioner.