

Dr. Manny Panjwani – Executive Bio

Manish Panjwani

LinkedIn profile

As Senior Managing Director at Accenture, Dr. Manish (Manny) Panjwani leads its North America Health and Public Services Technology Business. Prior to that, he led Accenture's South Region Technology Business and helps clients across all industries achieve total enterprise transformation. With over 30 years of global experience in strategy, consulting, technology, advisory, he has held various leadership roles and served across various industries such as products, communications, media, technology, banking, healthcare, chemicals, natural resources, energy, and more.

Manny recently completed his doctorate in Organizational Change & Leadership, where his dissertation research topic was the lack of digital transformation in resources industries. Manny is well published and has spoken at various conferences on topics related to digital innovation and transformation.

Manny is committed to giving back to the community and serves on the Executive Board of Children At Risk, a non-profit organization focused on children's education, health, anti-trafficking, and welfare. He was recognized as one of the "Outstanding 50 Asian Americans in Business" in North America. He is an avid yoga enthusiast, peloton rider and loves world travel and golf.

On the personal front, Manny is married to Manju, and with their daughter Aarushi and son Aarav, call The Woodlands, TXa their home.