KENNESAW STATE UNIVERSITY

Program Information

College:	Clarice C. and Leland H. Bagwell College of Education
Department:	School of Instructional Technology and Innovation
Program:	Instructional Technology, EdS

Program Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this degree from KSU, students will be able to:

1. Students will be able to apply research in the field of Instructional Technology to address practical problems and issues PK-12 schools.
2. Students will develop the skills necessary to become an effective technology leader, including facilitating the creation of a shared vision, strategic planning, working with stakeholders, and advocacy.
3. Students will create, promote, and sustain a dynamic, digital-age learning culture that provides a rigorous, relevant, and engaging education for all students.
4. Students will be able to promote an environment of professional learning and innovation that empowers educators to enhance student learning through the infusion of national standards, benchmarks, and frameworks for contemporary technologies and digital resources.
5. Students will be able to continually improve their organization through effective use of information and technology resources, change management, program evaluation, human resource management, and by establishing partnerships.
6. Students will model and facilitate the understanding of social, ethical, and legal issues and responsibilities related to an evolving digital culture.
7. Students will demonstrate professional knowledge, skills, and dispositions in content and pedagogical areas as well as adult learning, leadership, and management. (ISTE TD 6)
8. Students will be able to identify, budget for, manage, evaluate, and support technology resources including networks, technical systems, communication systems, and data systems.