

Program Information

College:	WellStar College of Health and Human Services
Department:	Social Work and Human Services – Undergraduate
Program:	Child Advocacy Studies, Minor

Program Student Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this degree from KSU, students will be able to:

1. Demonstrate general knowledge of violence and abuse experienced by children and youth.
2. Apply skills appropriate to one's profession and specialty, including the ability to identify, assess, intervene, and prevent violence, neglect, and abuse.
3. Utilize child advocacy studies skills, knowledge, and awareness to communicate effectively with stakeholders, including children and family units, multi-disciplinary teams/colleagues, and the community.
4. Promote understanding of the ethics involved in child maltreatment cases.
5. Effectively apply Child Advocacy Studies core competencies and skills in human service settings (through a field/internship experience).