- 5.) An Agati Table Demonstration by Jennifer Young demonstrated technological expansion in the library.

Dr. David Evans, Dean and Assistant Vice-President of Library Services, and Dr. Linda Marie Golian-Lui, Associate Dean and Director of the Horace W. Sturgis Library, have led significant expansion and remodeling projects that have transformed the library and provided more opportunities for student interaction on many levels. Their excellent leadership has a major impact, and it is a great benefit for students and faculty. They are increasing opportunities for students and faculty to have the resources and assistance they need for efficiently conducting significant research. As funding allows, Agati Tables and other innovations will enhance collaboration in the library among students and faculty from various departments.
